THE THEATRE

Idlehour Theatre

Genuineness and absolute realism are two factors in the enormous success which Cecil B. De Mille has attained as a motion picture director. These qualities are present in "Male and Female," Mr. DeMille's latest Paramount-Artercraft picture, which was adapted from Sir James M. Barrie's famous play, "The Admirable Crichton" and will be on view at the Idlehour theatre, April 12, 13 and 14. It is Mr. DeMille's desire that every property or furnishing used in his productions be the best that can be bought. Properties used in his latest picture total thousands of dollars in value. One toilet set alone cost five hundred dollars, and the gorgeous gowns worn by Gloria Swanson, Lila Lee, and Bebe Daniels, who are in the cast, are worth a handsome price.

In order to supply the locale for the island scenes in "Male and Female," DeMille arranged to film this part of the action on Santa Cruz Island in the Pacific Ocean, just off the California coast. But a tropical island was needed. This did not worry the resourceful director, who had great loads of foliage and tropical plants transplanted, so that the American island resembled a spot in the South Seas. This is but one example of the lavish scale which Barrie's play has been adapted to the screen, though the delightfully human touch of the distinguished dramatist has been fully retained.

Ancient Babylon in all its prodigious magnificence is one of the settings in "Male and Female." In the course of the story, Crichton, the sublimated butler, dreams of the days "when I was a king in Babylon," as he sits amid the ruins of a pre-historic court on a desert isle. The dream is shown on the screen, with Gloria Swanson as the gorgeously attired slave girl.

"The Fear Market" a Renart Production, which is to be presented at the Regent theatre for two days engagement beginning Thursday next is a photoplay attraction which critics who have followed the development of the silver sheet as a medium for the presentation of really big dramatic ideas have declared ranks among the foremost of film dramas.

Alice Brady, the film fan's favorite in the part of Sylvia Stone is called upon to portray the gamut of human emotions and does so with a tensely that is most convincing and a subtlety speak of her work as ranking with the best ever seen on the screen.

In no sense is "The Fear Market" a preaching. It is an absorbing tale of pathos and love which tugs at the heart strings and keeps the spectator entranced from start to finish.

The story is by Princess Troubetzkoy, and when "Fear Market" made its appearance in print it created a sensation wherever English is read. It was apparent that the authoress based her story on an expose which filled the front pages of the press the world over.

Miss Brady is supported by a cast of screen and stage actors well known to theatre-goers for their histrionic ability.

Could Not Stand Straight

It does not take long, when the kidneys are out of order and not doing their work properly, for poisonous acids to accumulate and cause aches and pains: "I caught cold and it settled in my kidneys. My back and sides were so lame and sore I could not stand straight. I use Foley Kidney Pills with good results and am glad to testify to their helping power."
